

Jonathan Gödeke

Auf dem Kamp, 9, 32312 Lübbecke
j.godeke@lse.ac.uk | +49 157 54874105

Summary:

Main Skills: Statistics and Econometrics, (Quasi-) Experimental Design, Welfare Measures and Policy Analyses
Main Interests: Distributional Policy Analyses, Distributional and Social Preferences, Welfare Measures
Main Experiences: Economics MSc, Behavioral Science MSc, Economics RA, Statistics Tutor and Math Exam Grader
Technical Skills: R (Advanced), Stata (Advanced), oTree (Advanced), Qualtrics, Python, HTML, LaTeX, LimeSurvey
Languages: German (native), English (TOEFL 111/120), Spanish (B1), French (willing to learn)

Education

University of Cologne

Cologne, Germany

MSc in Economics – to be graded

10/2024 – 08/2026

- Specialization: Microeconometrics and Economic Policy
 - Microeconometrics: “Impact of the COVID-19 Lockdown Policy on Life Satisfaction – A Causal and Distributional Analysis”
- Supported by the Germany-Scholarship

London School of Economics and Political Science

London, UK

MSc in Behavioral Science, GPA 68% / High Merit

09/2023 – 09/2024

- Specialization: Policy Analysis and Subjective Wellbeing Measures
- Master’s thesis: “Distribution Sensitive Policy Analysis: Constructing a Prioritarian SWF using Causal Evidence on Life Satisfaction,” (65%) supervised by Dr. Christian Krekel
- Other Essays I wrote:
 - The Effect of Cash Transfers on Political Support (83%)
 - Measuring Well-Being for Policy Analyses (69%)
 - A Dual-Process Model of Self-Defeating Behaviors (70%)

University of Cologne

Cologne, Germany

BSc in Business Administration, GPA: 1.3 (1.0 best, 5.0 worst) / Distinction

09/2019 – 08/2023

- Specialization: Behavioral Management Science and Economic Psychology
- Bachelor’s thesis: “Experimental Measurement of Provided Effort in Medical Processes by Diagnostic Indicator Tasks” (1.0), supervised by Prof. Dr. Daniel Wiesen
- Seminar thesis: “Incentives vs Commitment” (1.0), supervised by Prof. Dr. Daniel Wiesen
- Supported by the Germany-Scholarship

Instituto Tecnológico Autónomo de México

Mexico City, Mexico

BSc exchange semester

08/2022 – 12/2022

- Courses: Communication in Spanish, Managerial Skills Development, Investments
- Supported by the PROMOS-Scholarship (DAAD)

Gesamtschule Hüllhorst

Hüllhorst, Germany

Abitur/university entrance qualification, GPA: 1.9 (1.0 best, 5.0 worst)

09/2015 – 07/2018

- Main: Mathematics and Social Sciences

Professional Experience

University of Cologne

Cologne, Germany

Tutor and Exam Grader at the Department of Econometrics and Statistics

10/2024 – today

- Taught weekly undergraduate seminars, each 90 minutes, in the classes:
 - “Inferential Statistics and Econometrics,” covering probability distributions, limit theorems, point and interval estimation, and linear regression analyses
 - “Descriptive Statistics and Probability Theory,” covering analysis of uni- and multivariate data, measures of disparity, and random processes and probabilities
- Pre-graded the exams in the undergraduate class “Mathematics for Economists”
- Under the supervision of Prof. Dr. Rainer Dyckerhoff

University of CologneCologne, GermanyResearch Assistant at the Department for Healthcare Management*

04/2022 – today

- Programmed a game theoretical experiment about individual differences in altruism for medical students using oTree in collaboration with Boston University which is now being piloted and tested
- Coded questionnaires on demographics, preferences, and personality traits and assisted in executing an experiment regarding incentives in healthcare markets at the Cologne Laboratory for Economic Research (CLER)
- Coordinated and executed a nationwide survey in cooperation with the University Hospital Cologne (UKK) and the German Aerospace Center (DLR) about physical pain in surgeons and its behavioral implications
- Interviewed clinical directors for qualitative data collection during a revision process of a current study
- Supported the organization of conferences for “The German Association of Experimental Economics” and “The German Association of Health Economics” at the University of Cologne
- Under the supervision of Prof. Dr. Daniel Wiesen

London School of Economics and Political ScienceLondon, UKResearch Assistant at the Department for Health Policy*

10/2023 – 10/2024

- Analyzed the effect of opening hours liberalizations on health behaviors in Germany using quasi-experimental designs and regression models in Stata, and created a presentation about the findings to be held at a conference at Princeton University
- Investigated determinants of vegetarianism using concepts of social norms and survey data
- Under the supervision of Prof. Dr. Joan Costa-i-Font

University of CologneCologne, GermanyResearch internship at the Institute for Sociology and Social Psychology*

10/2021 – 01/2022

- Reviewed psychological interventions focused on improvements in individual well-being caused by different types of coping with mortality
- Delivered a presentation at the institute in front of a Professor, Postdocs and PhD students, illustrating well-being interventions
- Under the supervision of Prof. Dr. Detlef Fetchenhauer

AXA Konzern AGCologne, GermanyInternship in Corporate Strategy at an international Insurance Company*

07/2021 – 07/2021

- Assisted in the forecasts of skill and job reallocations during the implementation of a large-scale agile transformation project which was presented to the CEO of AXA Germany
- Conceptualized an internal competitive analysis of the status quo of big tech companies in the global insurance market, and derived strategic options for action, presented at AXA Germany’s board of directors

Extra-Curricular

Inspiration Cologne e.V.Cologne, GermanyCo-Founder and Chairman of a student association at the University of Cologne*

06/2020 – 01/2024

- Designed and organized ten speaker events, with 50-100 participants each, focusing on topics from politics, academia, or business, to ensure multiple professional perspectives for students at the University of Cologne
- Recruited and managed three functional areas (marketing, event management, finances)

Lebenshilfe Lübbecke e.V.Lübbecke, GermanyCare for people with physical and mental disabilities*

01/2018 – 07/2019

- Individual care for children and group activities for adults with disabilities

TuS Nettelstedt e.V.Lübbecke, GermanySoccer coach*

07/2014 – 06/2016

- Coached two youth teams and was responsible for the course of the season and the communication to parents

Lübbecke, 31.01.2025

